

teachers propose their optional courses, then students make their optional preferences for every course we compute the number of times it is the first choice for a student and the courses with more than 20 followers are accepted
After that, we will not take into account the accepted courses